

JAMES V. ALLRED
GOVERNOR

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT
AUSTIN, TEXAS
December 26, 1937

DERO D. COWLEY
SECRETARY TO GOVERNOR
GEORGE CLARKE
ALMA ALBERT
ASSISTANT SECRETARIES

Hon. E. E. Townsend
Alpine
Texas

Dear Mr. Townsend:

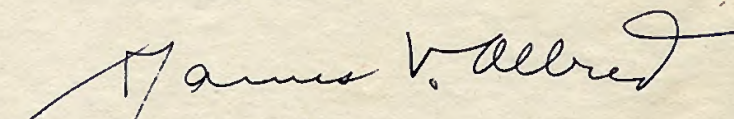

Under separate cover I am sending for your personal use several dozen splendid pictures of the Big Bend area recently taken at my direction from the air by the air corp of our Texas National Guard.

I think the pictures are unusually good. Some of them are being run in the San Antonio Light, but they can't show up as well in the newspaper as they do in the photograph.

Since you are the real "Daddie" of the Big Bend idea, I think it only fitting you should have these pictures.

With highest regards, I am

Sincerely yours,

Governor of Texas

To EE Townsend - Daddy of the Big Bend Park
Sincerely yours
James V. Platt
Governor of Texas

Alpine, Texas,

Jan.
4th,
1938.

Honorable James V. Allred,
Governor of Texas,
Austin, Texas,

My Dear Governor:-

~~I have just returned from a holiday trip~~ to South Texas and found your letter of the 26th, of December together with the pictures of the Big Bend area. I thank you most earnestly for your thoughtful kindness in remembering me with these incomparable pictures. They are the finest that I have ever seen of the park region.

It has been my pleasure to give away hundreds of dollars worth of pictures in trying to sell the Big Bend proposition to the people of Texas, but these, coming from you are mine and I will keep every one of them. I shall have them mounted in a scrap book with your letter on the front page and keep them for my grandson, Philip Townsend Hudgins.

Again thanking you and congratulating you on winning Pike's Peak, I am.

Sincerely yours.

E. E. Townsend.

(01)

Chisos Mountains;

Oak Canyon left fore ground.

CCC Camp and road at foot of Casa Grande, at left. Emory

Peak upper center.

The Sky-line carries <sup>us</sup> to the

Del Carmen and Fronterizas

beyond the Rio Grande.

<02-363E-III> <11-29-37-3P> <12-6000> CHISOS MTS.

(02)

Chisos Mountains;

Lost Mine, Crown, Casa Grande
and Emory. Basin in center, see site for Hotel etc. West view of Window.

Del Carmen and Fronterrizas to the rear.

<03-363L-111> <11-29-37-3P> <12-6000> CHISOS MTS.

(03)

Chisos Mountains;

Oak Canyon and part of Basin, with Hotel site and road exposed.

(04-303L-511)

CHISOS MTS.

(04)

Chisos mountains;

North end, near Pulliam's Bluff.

Burnham's Ranch, extreme upper right.

(05-3634-10)

CHISOS MTS

(05)

Over the Window.

CCC Camp upper left.

{06-3632-111}

CHISOS MTS.

(06)

Emory Peak,

Cat-Tail Canyon

right fore groun

(07)

Emory Peak.

Hotel site to left
in Basin.

65-3634-111

C.C.C. CAMP CHISOS MTS.

(08]

Casa Grande,

CCC Road,

and Camp.

Emory upper right.

(62-1051-11)

C.E.C. CAMP CHISOS MEXICO

(09)

CCC Camp,

in Basin.

Agua Pronto Well

in the canyon among the trees dug by E.E.Townsend, M.T.McClure, and a bunch of reliaf Mexicans in the spring of 1934, for the purpose of establishing the CCC Camp. First water found at seven and one half feet.
For Three days Mrs. E. E.
Townsend, cooked for the entire outfit, on a campfire in the hot sun.

(010)

CCC Camp in Basin,

Site for Hotel etc.,

Casa Grande,

The Saddle,

Chinese Wall..

San Vicente,

San Jose de

las Piedras and other far away mountains in Mexico.

(011-3634-111)

CHISOS MTS.

(OII)

Pommel, Lost Mine,

Crown, Chinese Wall, and

Saddle of the Chisos

Mountains.

Del Carmen, Fronterrizas,

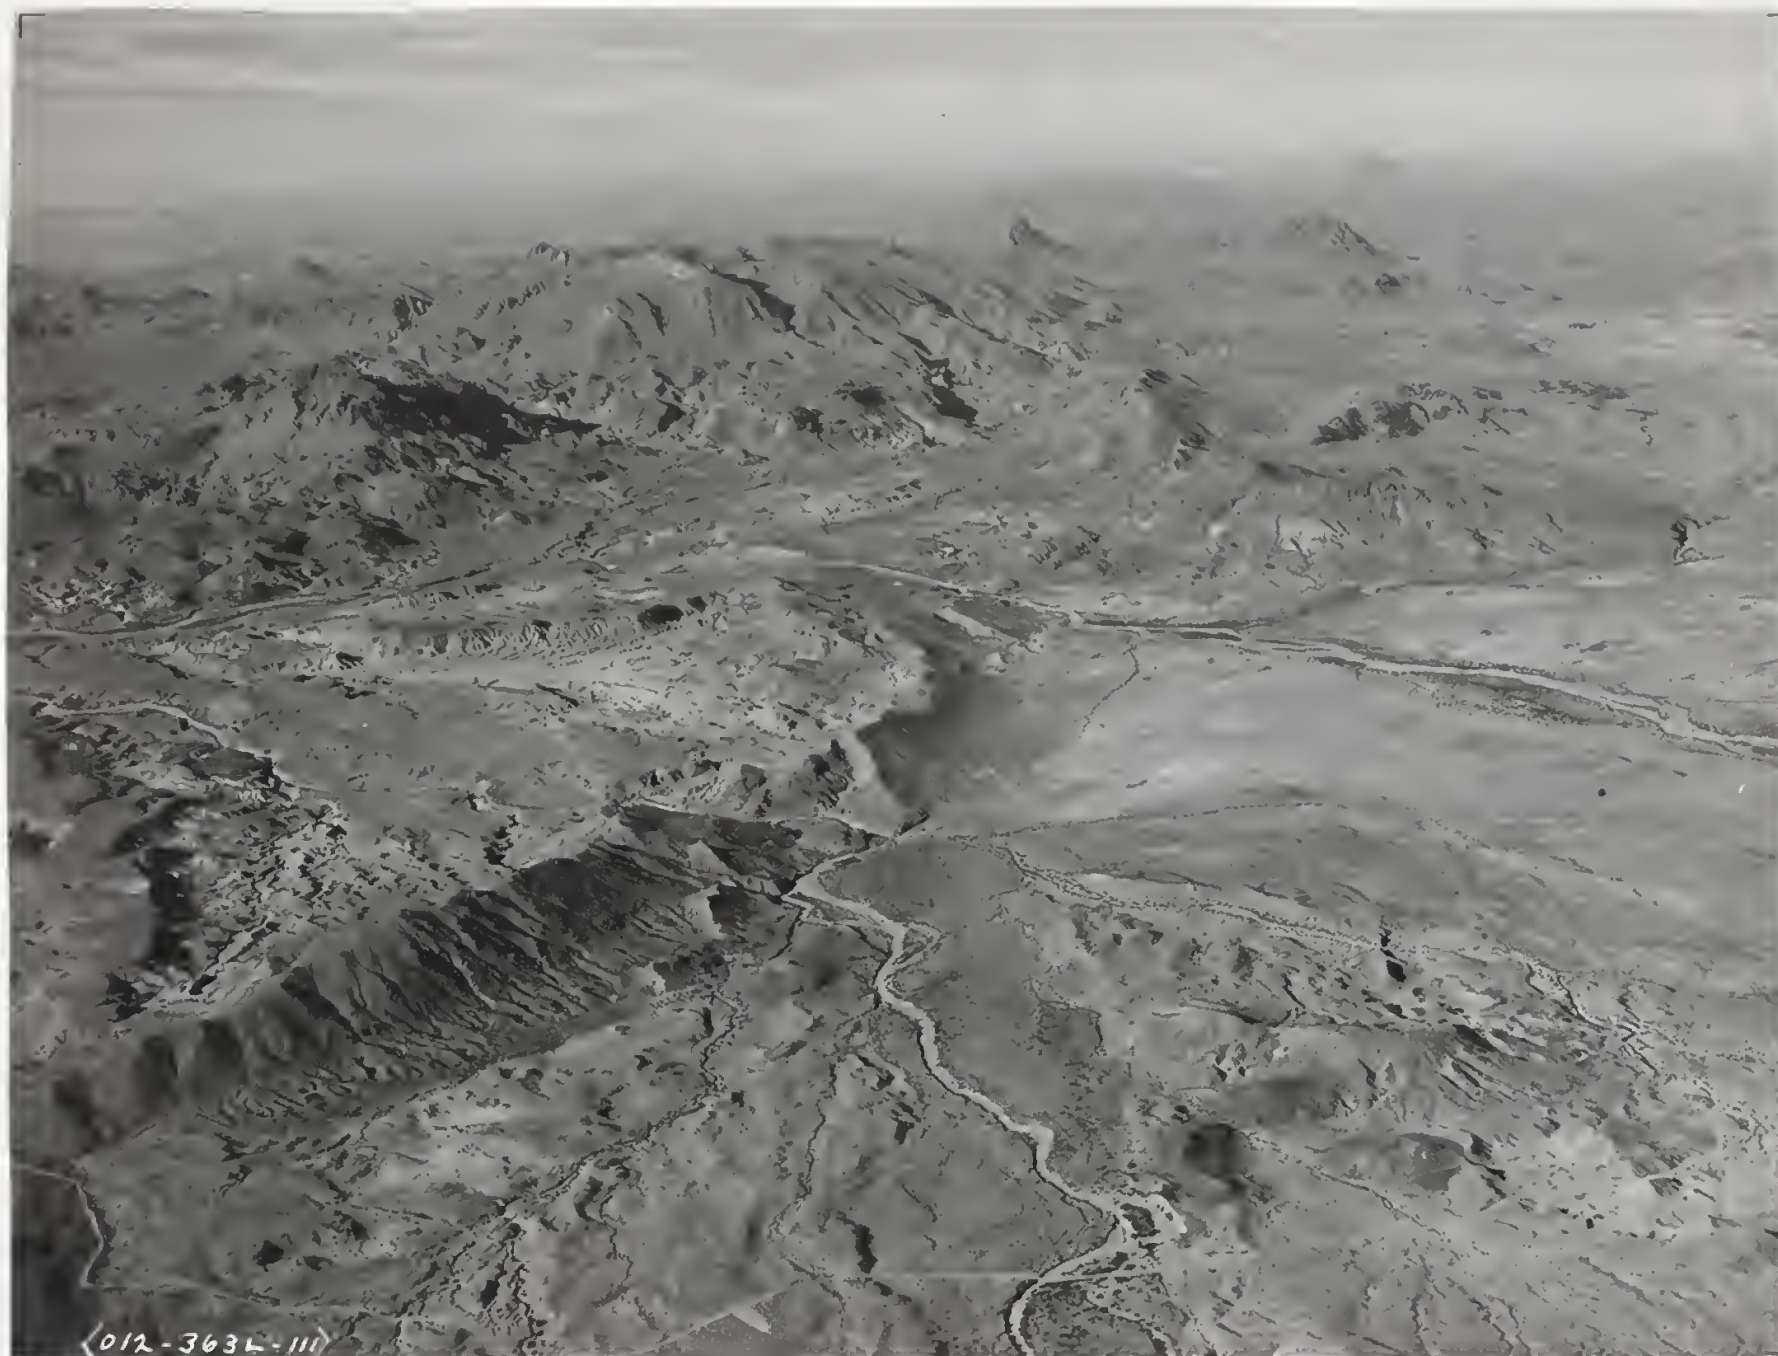

Mesa de los Fresnos,

San Jose de las Piedras,

and San Vicente Mountains

in Mexico.

(012)

Fore Ground

State Highway # 227, and Alamo Creek.

Center

Rough Run and on beyond we find Christmas, Corozonas, Nine Points, Santiago, Elephant, Cathedral and various other peaks and mountains of central and northern Brewster County.

013-363L-111

(013)

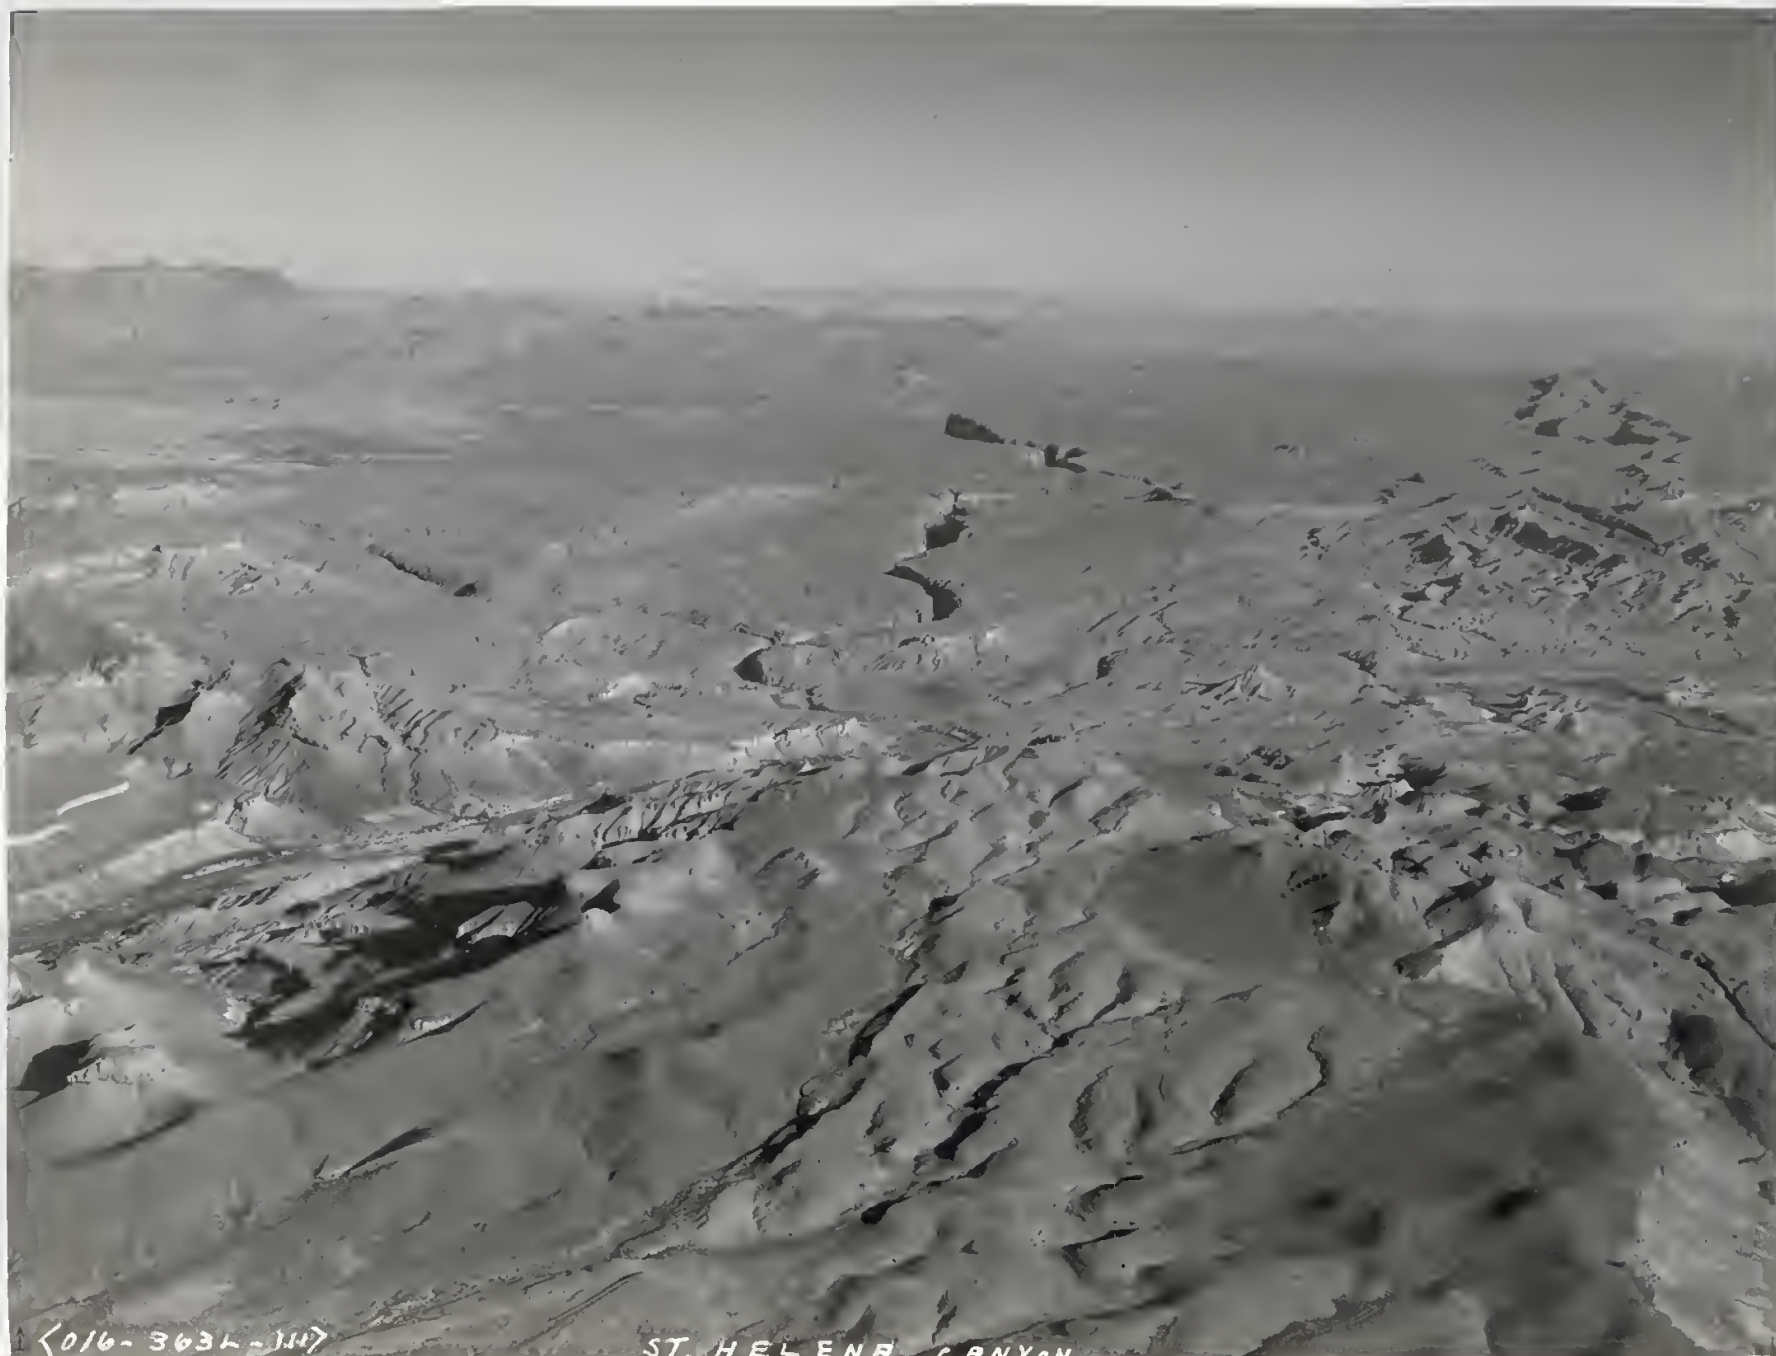

Fore Ground

Burro Mesa, and State Highway # 227.

Center

Rough Run Arroyo and farther to the northwest can be seen Egg Shell, Agua Fria, Green Valley, Pack-saddle, San Jacinto, and other well known land marks in Presidio County.

<016-3634-111>

ST. HELENA CANYON

Continued ---

Beginning on the left skyline we find Dead-Horse Mountains, followed by the Chisos and the lower Chisos or Picachos, which abut on the River above Mariscal Mountain, which can also be seen.

In the central back are the richly painted cliffs of the Del Carmen and the dark forest clad heights of the Fronterrizas. The last named are variously estimated to reach altitudes of 10,000 to 12,000 feet above sea level, exceeding all others within the International Park area.

Straight away, they are 75 miles from the camera.

(017)

Santa Helena Canyon, immediately above and before entering the Box.

(015-3634-11)

RIO GRANDE RIVER

(018)

Santa Helena Canyon.

Castillon P mis-spelled

Castolon ) Peak.

(019)

Rio Grande.

019 - Above Lajitas - looking up the Rio Grande.
Skyline - Mts. in Mex. west of Presidio. Dark peak, center- just below skyline, is probably Sierra de de Santa Cruz, just below Ojinaga, Chihuahua. Prominent rim rock facing left near upper center is a few miles below Polvo. Edge of Chinati Mts. in extreme upper right

<020-3634-111>

(020)

Rio Grande.

020 - Pretty much the same as 019, except this shows the Chinati and Bofecillo mountains in more detail

021-3634-111

ST. HELENA CANYON.

(021)

Santa Helena Canyon,

looking down stream.

Texas left - Mexico right.

(021-3634-111)

ST. HELENA CANYON

(022)

Santa Helena Canyon,

looking down stream.

Texas left - Mexico right.

(023-3034-117)

ST. HELENA CANYON.

(023)

Santa Helena Canyon,

looking down stream.

Texas left - Mexico right.

1 1024-3616-1117

ST. HELENA CANYON

(024)

Santa Helena Canyon,

looking up stream.

Mexico left - Texas right.

In 1860, Lt. Echols, U. S. Army, commanding an Expedition to test fitness of camels for this region, to trace Comanche War Trail, and to locate suitable site for army Post, adjacent said Trail, visited this place. He called it

"Grand Puerta".

He found desirable site a few miles down River.

He had 20 camels, many mules, and about 50 men.

<025-3634-111>

ST HELENA CANYON.

(025)

Santa Helena Canyon,

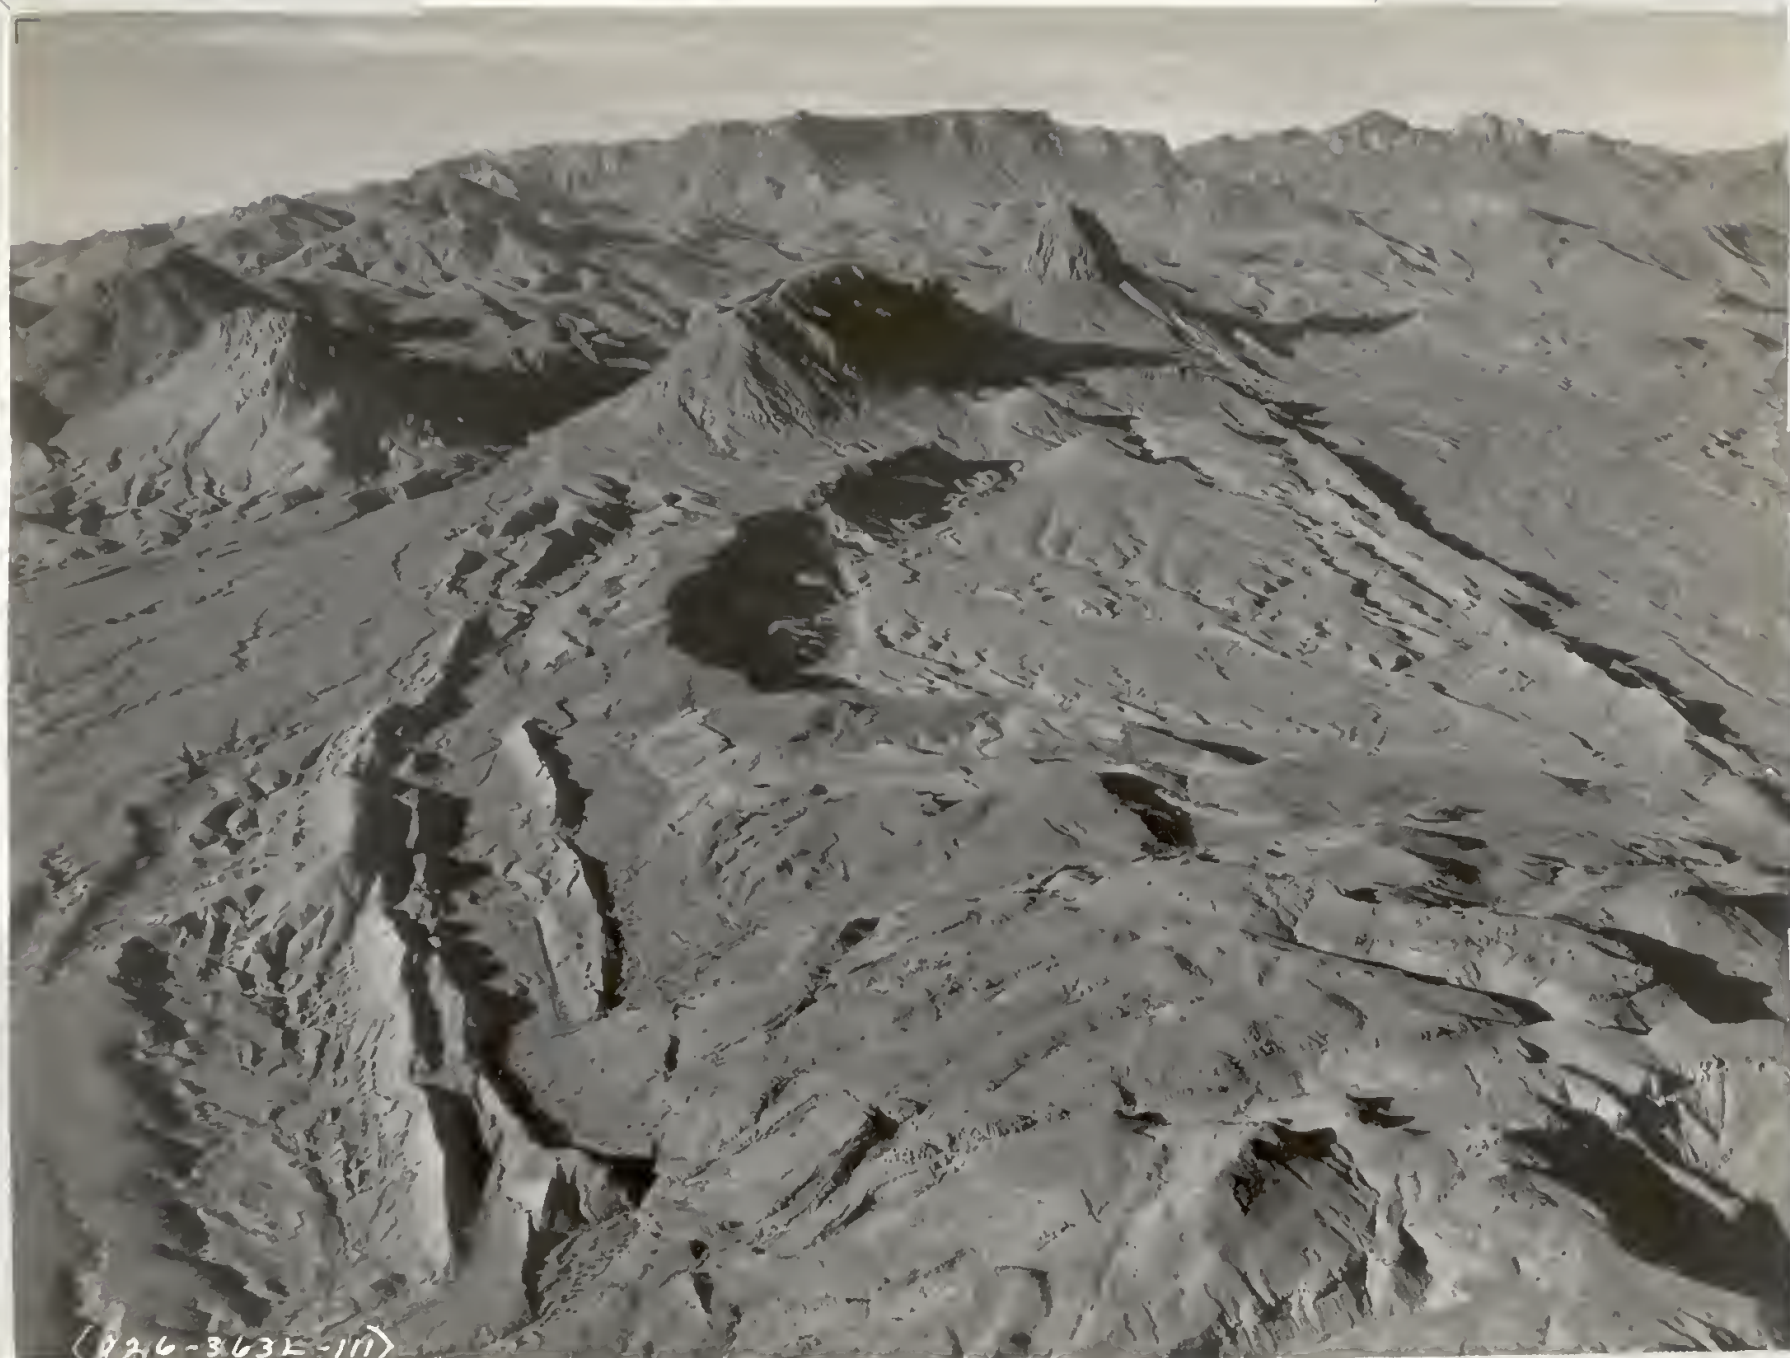

looking up stream.

Mexico left - Texas right.

My first visit here, one hot afternoon, in May 1895. We took a bath in the cool shade a la "nude", the first in many days.

At that time wheeled vehicles had not violated the virginity of its sacred precincts.

(026)

Emory Peak and South Rim, Elephant's Tusk, in front.

Elevation Elephant's Tusk
5200 feet above sea level.
South Rim 7000 feet.

Once upon a time, a Texas
Ranger "accidentally" killed a fleeing bandit near the foot of Elephant's Tusk. In the investigation the coronor stated that in his opinion the bullet first struck a stone, ricocheted and hit the "hombre". The Ranger<sup>said.</sup> "Hell no. It hit a rock, glanced and killed him." He feared that big word was some sort of in-crimination.

(027)

Emory Peak and South Rim.

Elephant's Tusk.

028-3635-11

(028)

Chisos Mountains and approaches from South-west.
Christmas Mountains in upper left.

(029)

Mule Ears, to left.

Upper sky-line,

Agua Fria and

Egg Shell.

Right,

Christmas Mountains.

(030-3634-111)

(030)

Mule Ears again.

Straight beyond on horizon,
Agua Fria,

Egg Shell, and

Pack-Saddle.

031-363L-111

CHISOS MTS.

(031)

Lower Chisos, sometimes called Picachos by local Mexicans, taken from Landing Field at Johnson's Ranch.

Nugent Peak and other southeastern elevations of the Chisos showing on the right.

(031-3631-III)

CHISPA MTS

(032)

"Picachos", from near

Johnson's Ranch and the Southeastern escarpment of the Chisos Mountains.

633-363P-III

(033)

Clouds covering most of the Chisos.

Emory partly visable.

East point of Picachos - lower left and

Elephant's Tusk, right
center.

6034-3038-110

(034)

Here,

Emory has raised his cap.

"Picachos" to left center.

See fence line or road lower
right.

(036-383D-III)

CARMEN MTS

(036)

Boquillas, the twin villages,
-two "Small Mouths", one in Texas and one in Mexico. Here, once upon a time, I accepted the hospitalities of the Mexican Quartel, which was expended over the muzzles of army rifles.
Left center the meandering Rio Bravo disappears into the upper end of Dead Horse Canyon. The painted cliffs of Del Carmen stretch across the sky as Borre-go Peak takes a drink from the moisture laden cloud. Near the center, a white spot centered with a smaller black one, indicates the Mexican "Terminal" of the aerial cable, which at one time delivered buckets of ore over its seven miles length to the Texas side. Old Mexican Aduana on small Mesa above the canyon entrance.

<037-363P-III>

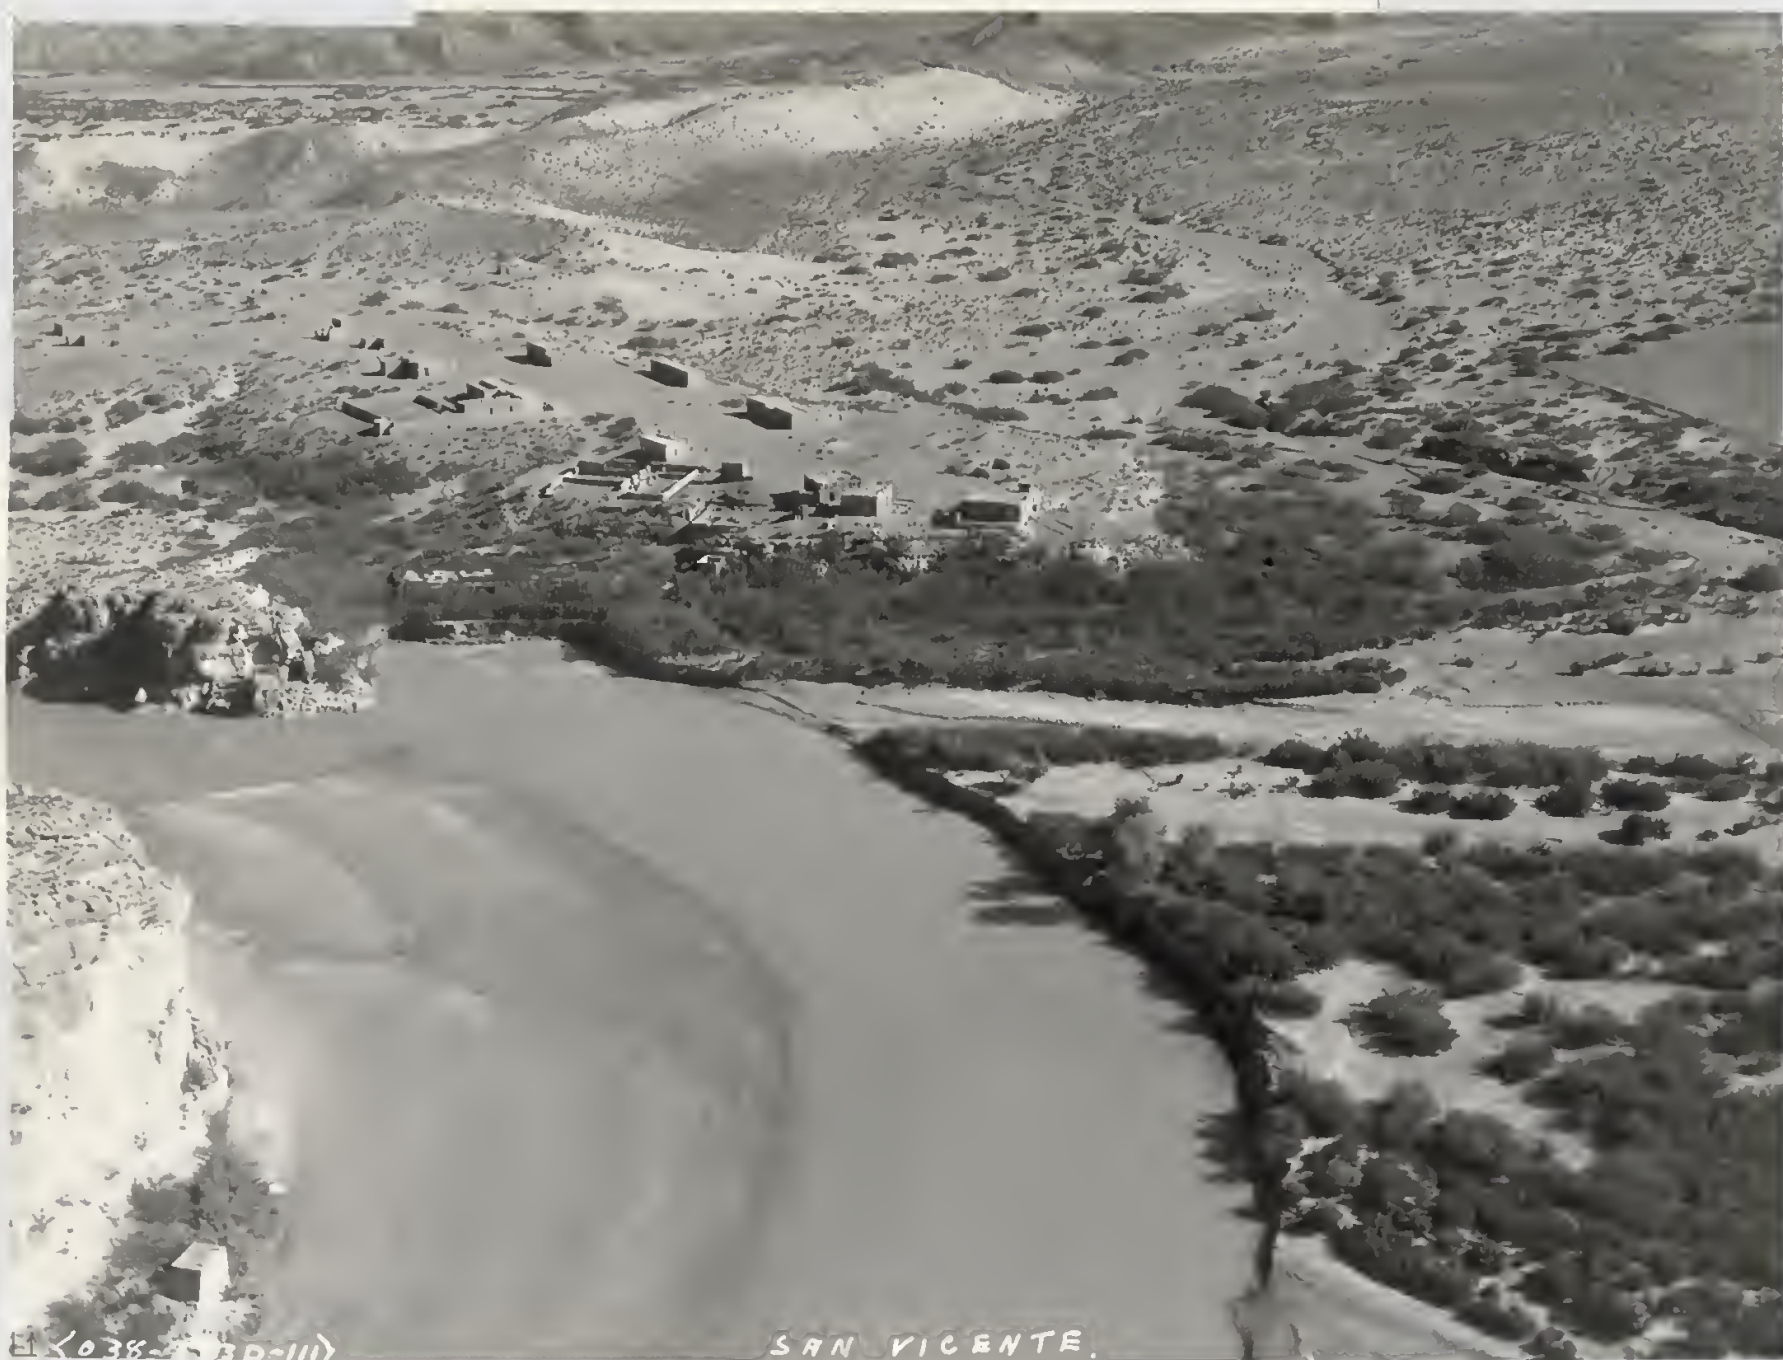

RIO GRANDE RIVER

(037)

Rio Bravo.

No lo conozco.

K038-30-111

SAN VICENTE.

(038)

Close up - Boquillas, Coahuila, where I visited the "Quartel"
in the days of Revolution.
See the "Arenales". Geology - exemplified-- white sands covering high rocky ridges, wind swept from arroyos and the River's bed.

039-3530-111

SAN VICENTE

(039)

Another view of my "jail" town, looking south. A little tip of Del Carmen can be seen in extreme upper left and beyond it the Fronterizas. To the right of center on sky-line - San Jose de las Piedras, though 40 miles away, is plainly visible.

It is one of the Peaks to which which is directed the boundary lines of the Mexican Park area. Legends tell of the ghostly horsemen who gallop around its bouldered base when certain phases of the moon tempt the uneasy spirits to feats of horsemanship.

(040)

Dead Horse, or Boquillas Canyon.

Because of historical significance, let us forever call it

"Dead Horse".

041-303P-11

MATRISAL CANYON

(041)

Dead Horse Canyon, see it meandering from right to left.
Del Carmen and tips of the Fronterrizas showing above.

CARMEN MTS.

(042)

Dead Horse Canyon and the Del Carmen.

Borrego Peak on center
sky-line.

(043-3830-111)

CARMEN MTS.

(043)

Dead Horse Canyon.

Del Carmen.

(044)

Dead Horse Canyon,

Del Carmen.

San Jose de las

Piedras, again appears on the distant sky-line, near center.

(045-3615-11)

CARMEN MTS.

(045)

Del Carmen, north part as it approaches the Rio Grande.
Borrego Peak punching a hole in the sky.

<046-3836-111>

(046)

Lower

Dead Horse Canyon.

046 - Mexico in foreground.
Looking down Rio G. and over the Ladrones Vega. Bullis Gap in upper Right.

047-383C-111

(047)

Lower

Dead Horse Canyon,.

047 - Foreground - Mexico. Looking down Rio G. over La Vega de las Ladrones - just below the mouth of the Maravillas Crk. Maravillas Canyon middle left. Dove Mt. Center, above it Yellow House Peak and Camel's Hump.

(049-3230-111)

(048)

Bend of the

Rio Grande.

048 - Foreground - Mexico and Rio Grande. Maravillas entering Rio G. Maravillas Creek canyon upper center Upper Left - Dog Canyon. Cloud on covers Santiago Peak. Then comes/Sky Cathedral of Haley's Peak, followed by Davis Mts. Mt. Ord, Altuda Pass, and Glass Mts.

(05-3530-11)

CARMEN MTS.

(051)

Fronterrizas are peeping
just above the Del Carmen.
A bend of the Dead Horse in fore ground.

⌞ 053-3830-111

CARMEN MTS.

(053)

Another view of cloud capped
Del Carmen.

Below the center and a little to the right, we again find the Mexican "Terminal" of the aerial. Notice the foot and burro trails leading to it from below. Leading upwards from it towards the great sierra can be seen the road, over which ores were hauled from the mines to the Terminal.
Borrego Peak still on the sky-line.

054-363P-III

(054)

A closer up of the twin Boquillas and the meanderings of the Bravo before it enters Dead Horse Canyon.

Doubtless the Dead Horse adventure, the killing of captured Indian horses, (1/16th/1882) by Texas Rangers, who were descending the River in boats, occurred somewhere within the scope of this picture.

As now remembered the Ranger party consisted of the following members of Company "E" Frontier Battallion, viz;
C. L. Nevill, Captain,
Joe B. Irving,
J. M. Sedberry,
Charley Eans,

and the negro cook.

(057)

Here the Bravo ate its way around the northern base of San Vicente Mountain, forming one of our small, but attractive canyons, the Little San Vicente, about 800 feet in depth.

Here, I rescued the carcass of old Bill Harris, after it had been in the chilly waters for 17 days. It had wounds in one arm and evidently shot in the ribs. A fifty pound stone was tied to its neck.

Mission San Vicente, established early part 18th, century is to right of and a little beyond timber point where it extends farthest south -right.

Sky-line,

Del Carmen.

658-36-111

MARISCAL CANYON

(058)

Mariscal Canyon, walls 1400 feet, straight up and down.

Most southern reach of the Bravo in the Big Bend, North Lat. approximately  $28^{\circ} 59'$ .

While it cut through the Mariscal, it did not conquer the next impediments, San Vicente and Del Carmen, (both seen in picture) whose massive and granite like walls forced it to the far North. Here, it flows almost due East, but upon approaching San Vicente (upper center) is turned around the northern end of that uplift and again tries for a southward course, but again, it is forced northward by the sturdy walls of Del Carmen - central skyline. Centinela Peak - another Mexican Park boundary marker, in upper right.

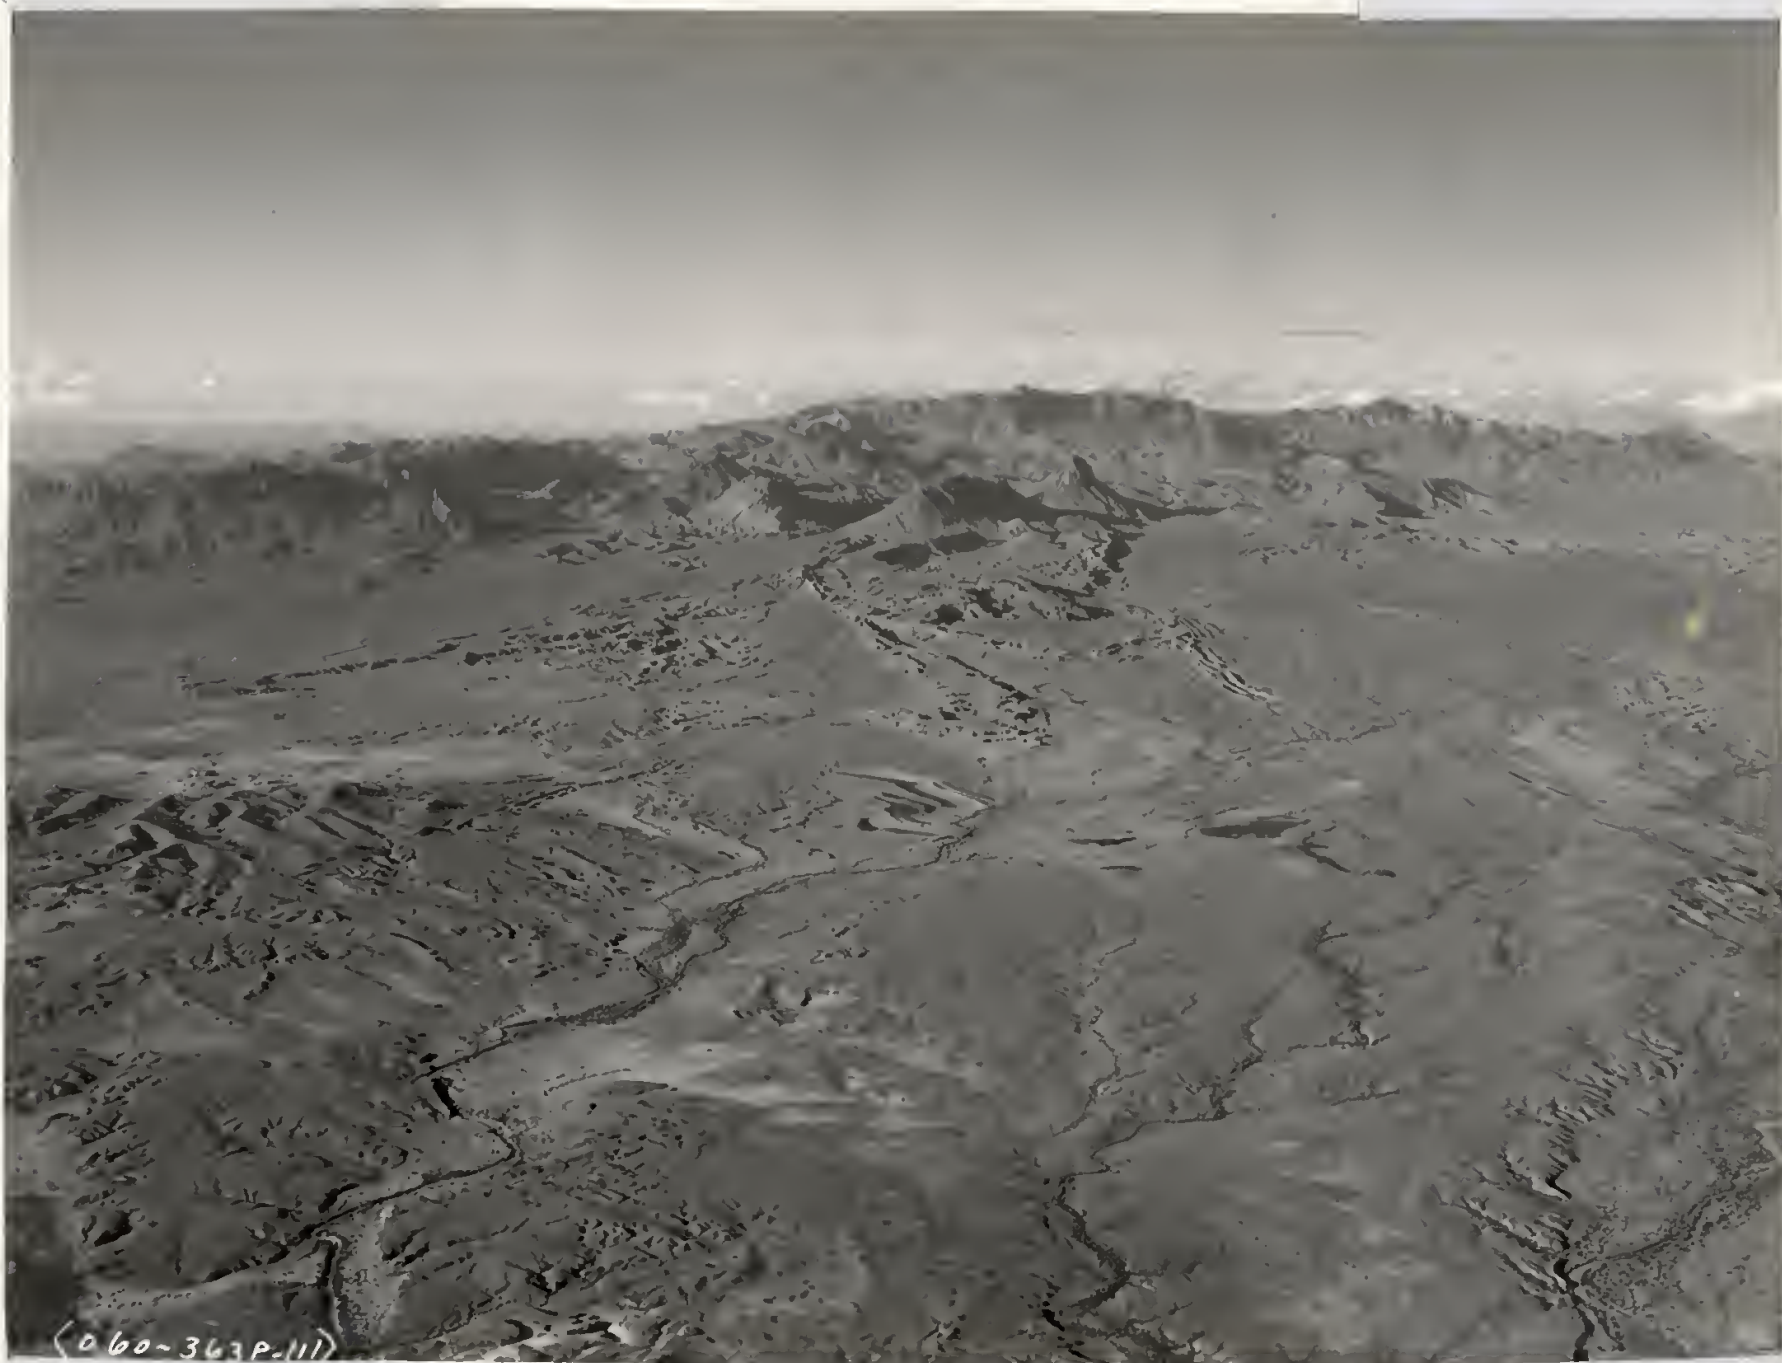

↑ (059-363P-III)

MARISCAL CANYON.

(059)

Mariscal Canyon. Where the River conquered the mountains and the mountains conquered the River. Mariscal lost its battle against the raging waters. San Vicente, lower upper, and Del Carmen, upper right, retreated it one hundred miles to the North.

Comanche Pass, center sky-line, between Del Carmen and Fronterrizas, is a tough and hazardous Trail. Centinela Peak, near northern end of Fronterrizas.

(060-363P-111)

(060)

Los Chisos

from the South.

In line, Elephant's Tusk, 5200 feet; South Rim, 7000 feet; and Emory Peak 7835 feet, in elevation.

Los Picachos left, and above them, Agua Fria, Egg Shell, Pack-Saddle, and other distant landmarks in Brewster and Presidio Counties.

<061-3630 111>

(061)

Formations southwest of the Chisos

Emory and South Rim, upper
right.

Again, Pack-Saddle, Egg
Shell, Agua Fria, Maverick, Saw Mill and others.

(062-363L-111)

(062)

Los Chisos.

Cow-heaven. Elephant's Tusk, Emory, and the Pack-Saddle region.

063-3632-111

(063)

Los Picachos, Castillon, Mule Ears, Terlingua Basin, on up to Agua Fria and beyond.

Peaks showing in center;
begining on left, Castillon,
Bee (?), Mule Ears, Trap,
Kit, and Goat. Rattlesnake shows dimly beyond Trap.

11-064-363L-III)

(064)

North end of Mariscal Mt., in in center. The Canyon is several miles to right of picture. The Bravo can be seen as it drifts along the west side of San Vicente and circles its northern point, turning South again and actually flowing along its eastern base for a short distance, before setting off towards its next barrier,
Del Carmen.

On the sky-line, Del Carmen, Comanche Pass, and Fronettri-za's mothering clouds, seldom absent, which doubtless sustains its rich vegetation.

665-3631-1112

CHISOS MTS.

(065)

Emory, South Rim, and other eastern points of the Chisos Mountains covered with the life sustaining clouds.
The evil of overstocking and "Erosion's toll is well recorded here.

(066-3634-111)

CHISOS MTS

(066)

Emory Peak, South Rim.

Over to the left appears

Christmas Mountains, Coronas, and Nine Points.

Evening shadows darken the eastern slopes.

067-3634-111

CHISOS MTS.

(067)

Blue Creek, South Rim, Emory, Casa Grande, and many other friends in the Chisos.
Rosillas 'neath the dampening clouds.

<068-3631-111>

CHISOS MTS.

(068)

Pulliam's Bluff, Lost Mine, and Panther Peak. Paint
Mountain in the valley.

In the upper left; a long ridge, a peak, followed by another bulky ridge, compose the Corazonas. At the near foot of the last, I rescued another dead man - Roy Williams - from a watery grave - this time from the bottom of a thirty foot well, covered with fifteen feet of water.

Higher and to the right,
Nine Points, and farther on Santiago Peak - in the clouds. Rosillas to right.

{ 069-3634-111 }

CHISOS MTS.

(069)

Lost Mine, Pulliam's Bluff, Paint Mountain, Christmas,
Corazonas, and Nine Points.

1070-3634-III

CHISOS MTS.

(070)

Crown, Lost Mine, Panther, and Lone Mountain.

071-363L-III

CHISOS MTS

(071)

Flying HIGH, Emory is almost under us. Casa Grande is the little mountain on the right with a big shadow. Basin left front, with CCC Camp hidden in the sharp point of the shadow beyond the small round peak.

Left center, Paint Mountain, in valley. On extreme right the white sided mound is Lone Mountain. The highway can be seen circling from this point, via Burnham's Ranch and into the dark shadows of Green Gulch.

(073)

Lower right, exit of Oak Canyon. The Sam Nail Ranch is somewhere in the shadow of Burro Mesa, at the lower left. Christmas dominates the center, with Corazonas and Nine Points to the right. Croton Agua Fria, Egg Shell, and others to left.

(074)

Burro Mesa in front. Maverick, Bee, Cigar, and Saw Mill
Mountains towards the left.
The hazy sheen hides the little village of Terlingua in the extreme left.
Agua Fria, Egg Shell, Pack-Saddle, and Green Valley,
upper right.

<075-3634-III>

CHISOS MTS.

(075)

Close up of Emory and the South Rim.

(076-3634-111)

CHISOS MTS.

(076)

Blue Creek. At the sharp curve in the road, Alice scraped the fender and stalled Lutie's car.

Emory and South Rim, upper
right.

(077)

Blue Creek.

The sharp curve of the road is still in sight.

I killed a three point flagtail buck, just below the fringe of trees at the foot of the lowest central cliff.

As usual we find Emory on Top.

(078-3634-111)

CHISOS MTS.

(078)

West side of the Chisos.

A glimpse of the road winding up Blue Creek, in lower right.

(079)

West side, again. Ward

Spring about the center.

(080-3631-111)

CHISOS MTS.

(080)

Chisos' western slope.

<081-3631-111>

RHISOS MTS.

(081)

Chisos' western slope. Oak Canyon breaks through at the depression between the higher points/

<083-3632-111>

(083)

Los Chisos.

The mule Ears too, in more than forty years acquaintance
I've never seen 'em wiggle.

(084)

Los Chisos.

Well, just look at 'em
from the west.

Upper left, south end of Goat Mountain.

< 085-3634-111 >

(085)

Near Castolon.

First Peak on right is north end of Goat Mountain;
next towards the left is Trap, and the long low one still farther to the left is Kit Mountain.

086-363N-III

(086)

A friend once said.

"They are so damned ugly that they are pretty".

Near the Terlingua Creek.

Agua Fria and Egg Shell on northern horizon.

Kit Mountain, near right.

"Bee" (?) so called, the dark and prominent Peak in left center.

{ 087-363H-III }

(087)

Rio Bravo in fore ground, beyond it the road between Johnson's and Castolon.

Center, Castillon Peak, Trap, Kit, Christmas, and Goat Mts. latter on extreme right.

Left and center, back, Saw-Mill, Agua Fria, Egg, and Pack-Saddle.

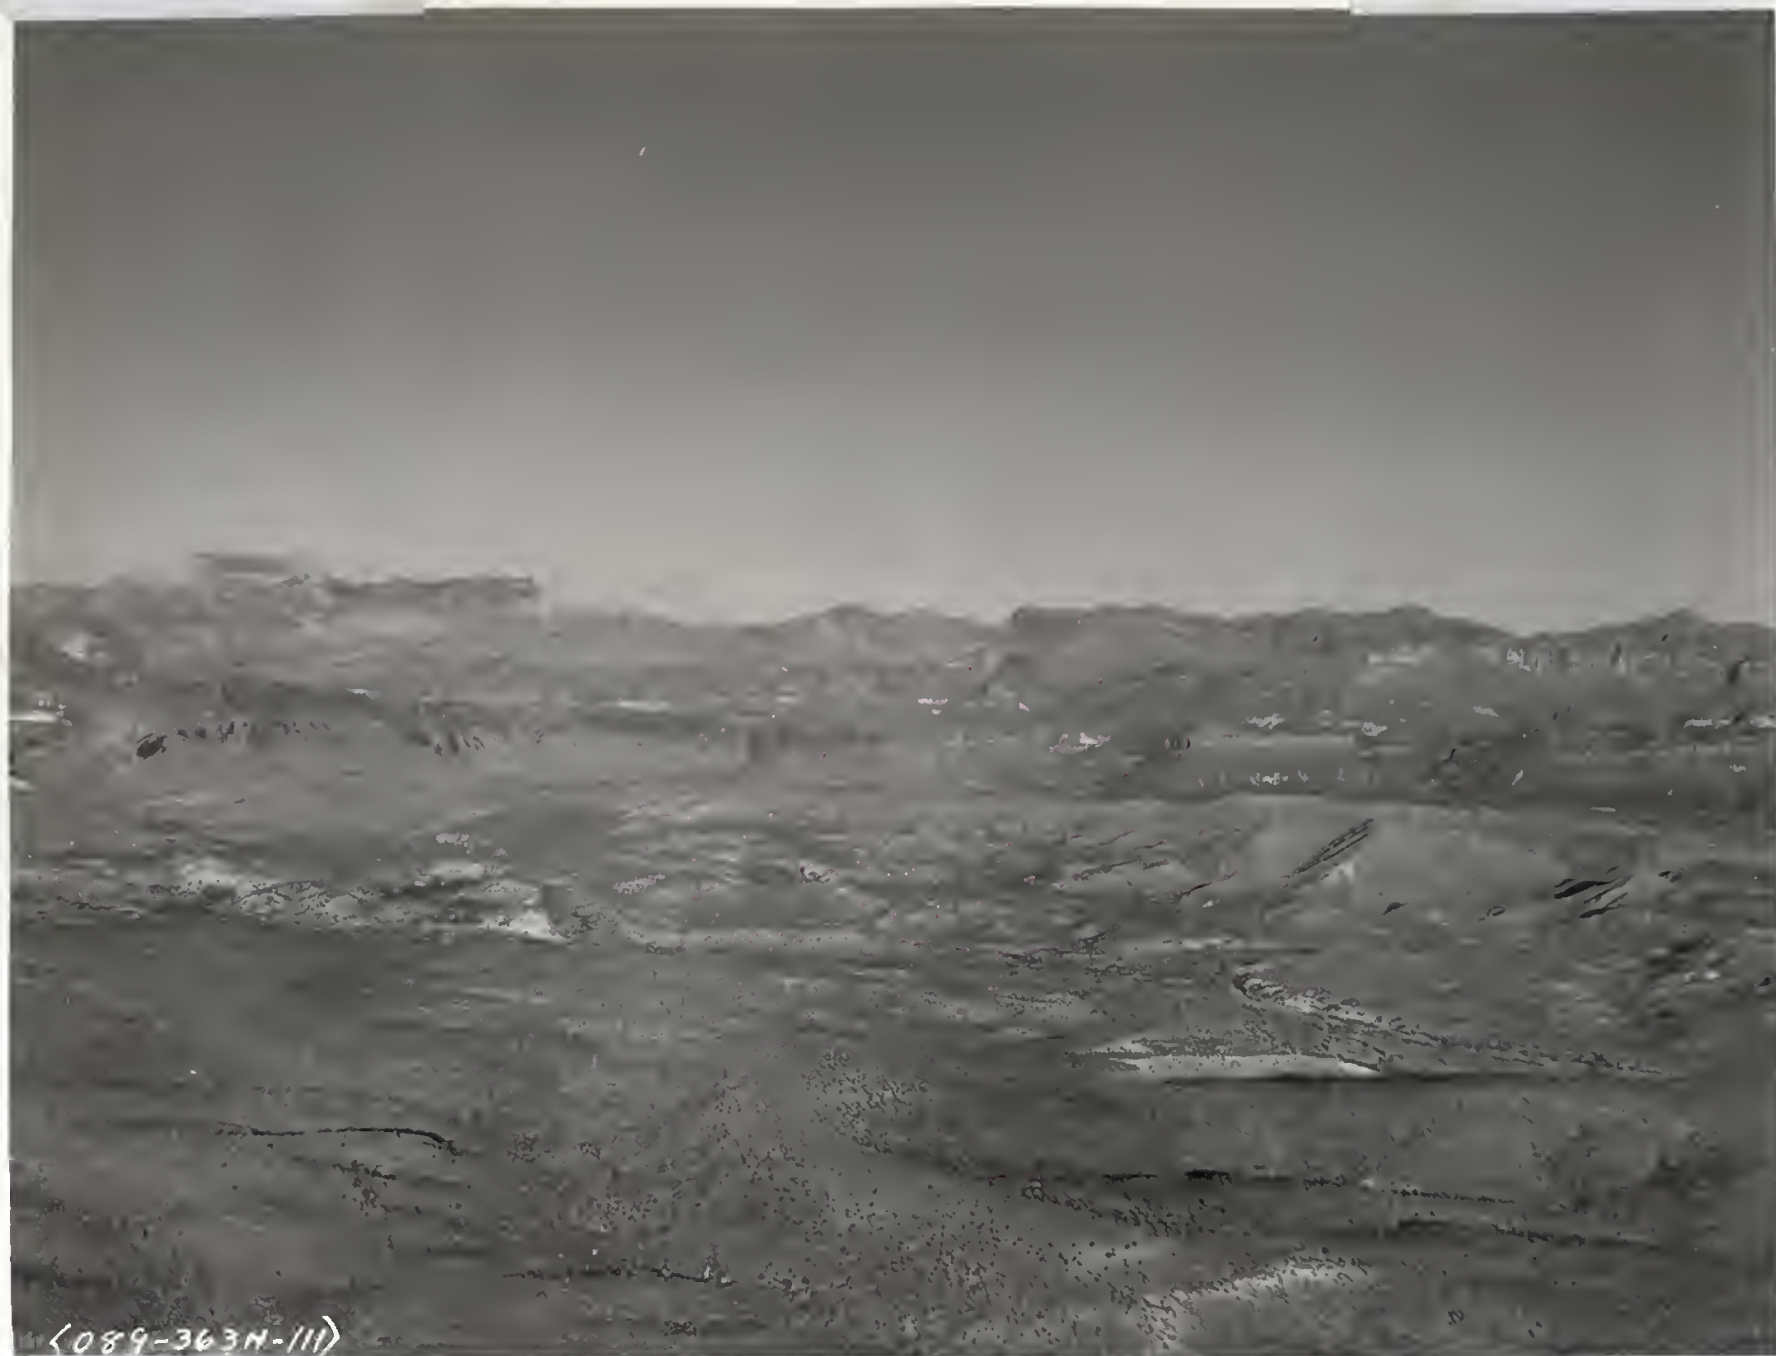

(088)

Fore ground, ~~I think~~ is top of Santa Helena Mesa, in Mexico some miles south of the Canyon, showing the top of a smaller canyon.

Left center sky-line, Los Picachos, or lower Chisos Mountains. Cloud banked skyline is over the Fronterizas.

(089-363H-III)

(089)

Chisos and Picachos on skyline. The camera looking southeastward. Mule Ears almost in center.

090-3634-111

(090)

Taken from almost the same position as No 089, but looking to the northeastward.
Chisos on right sky-line and probably Burro Mesa on left.

<091-3634-111>

(091)

Castillon Peak, Trap, and Christmas in center and farther back.

Egg and Pack-Saddle, extreme left on horizon.

092-363H-111

(092)

Bravo in front. Castolon in center. The buildings were erected by the government for an army post, about 1920-21. This site or one very near it was chosen and recommended by Lt. Echols, in 1860 for that purpose, while on one of his camel expeditions. It was called Santa Helena Post, and was used by the army for a short time only, probably less than one year, after erection of buildings.

Long white strip in center, is an abandoned dry land farm, beyond it, the Rattle Snake Mts. Left sky-line, Terlingua Hills, followed by Saw-Mill, Agua Fria, Egg, and Pack-Saddle.

Near the ~~left~~ lower edge of picture, is Ojitos. It is the small white spot in the central of three little canyons among the hills, and on the road leading down river from Castolon. When I first rode here in 1895, we found some Mexican families living in jacalitos, the only human abodes within many miles.

(093)

Rio Bravo winding down through center. Top left, upper walls of Santa Helena Canyon. Aguja is the lone peak in center.
Terlingua Hills to its right.
Castolon farm to right center.

<094-363M-III>

CASOLON TEXAS.

(094)

Castolon Farm and Buildings - old army post. Upper part, Trap, Kit, Castillon, and Chisos. South Rim, extreme right. The small valley among the white hills in upper left, has numerous geological phenomena. It is also the place where a hotly pursued cow thief killed (and let them rot) twenty five or thirty head of cattle in order to escape capture.

(095)

Santa Helena, or Castolon farm and buildings.

Castillon Peak and Chisos
Mountains in back.

1096-363H-111

(096)

Upper end of old Santa Helena or Gastolon Farm, right foreground. Clyde Buttrill settled this place and erected the barn in left fore-ground.
His original house and store buildings are a little farther to the left, just off the picture.

Temporal, or dry farm, center left. Emergency landing field in center and Cow Valley beyond it. Chisos Mountains and Castillon upper part.

(098)

South Rim, upper left, followed ~~by~~ right by the Picachos and distant mountains in Mexico.

Castillon, center right.
See road leading down creek and irrigated farm near right center.

099-363 H-III

(099)

Looking almost due East towards the Chisos.

(0100)

Junction of Santa Helena Canyon road with Terlingua - Castolon road, near left lower corner. Mexican homes and farms on Alamo Creek, near lower right. South end of Rattle Snake Mountain left center. On sky-line
Christmas, and Rosillas.
Burro Mesa far to right.

(0101)

Terlingua Creek coming down through center. Terlingua - Castolon road to right and first above it, the Rattle Snake Mountains. Straight above these can be seen the Study Butte, with Maverick Mountain to its right.

First on left horizon is Egg, followed by Pack-Saddle, Nine Points, under the heavy clouds, and then Christmas dominating the right.

(0102)

Terlingua Creek sweeping from upper right to lower left. Terlingua village is somewhere in the hills towards the upper and central part of picture.
Saw-Mill and Agua Fria, in upper right.

{0105-3634-III}

JOHNSON RANCH AND LANDING FIELD

(0105)

Bravo in front. Johnson's Ranch and landing field in central part. Aguja Peak, far away in upper left.
Castillon next with the Terlingua hills back of it.
On right, Trap, Mule Pass, and Goat.

0110-363L-1117

LANDING FIELD JOHNSON RANCH

(0110)

Looking South upon Johnson's Ranch and landing field.

Slightly above center in left the River makes a big bend to the north, meandering around for four miles it forms Bolsa de Vaca, with less than quarter mile across its neck and twenty eight feet of fall - so
'tis said.

Sky-line mountains are in Mexico.

(QIII)

Just below right center the Bravo sweeps around the northern point of San Vicente Mountain, then swings southward, eastward, and northward as it approaches the Del Carmen range, the ribbed sided mountain in the distance. To the left of this are the Dead Horse, or Caballo Muerto Mountains, in Texas, and on the far right, the Fronterizas, in Mexico.

<0112-3634-111>

CHISOS MTS.

(0112)

The Picachos from near Johnson's Ranch. Emery
Peak and the South Rim can be seen far on the skyline.

<0113-363L-111>

CHISOS MTS.

(0113)

Looking northeastward from near Johnson's Ranch.

Mule Ears and Goat near top left.

Chisos right back ground and north end of Picachos below and to right.

